I'm currently a third-year undergraduate Computer Science student in BINUS University. I am focused in front end development and UI/UX Design, though I always strive to explore new knowledge to fuel my growth as a person. I'm more than capable to work in a team environment, both as a leader figure and a team member. My previous organizational experiences has become a testament to my soft skill proficiency like collaboration, leadership, critical thinking, initiative, and adaptability to name a few. I believe both my soft and technical skills combined will become a fuel for my ultimate goal of directly influencing positivity and growth to the world and those closest to me.
